DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-23 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-9, 11-16, and 18-20 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Zeighami et al. (6,508,621). Zeighami et al. disclose a heat dissipating device comprising: a rotor device 470 having a plurality of rotor blades 420-1; and a fan guard 380 coupled to the rotor device and having a frame 520 and a plurality of guard blades 510-1 arranged relative to the rotor blades to supercharge the airflow out of the device (col. 3, lines 39-50). The fan guard can be disposed either the airflow inlet or outlet side of the device (See Figure 3A) and can include a second frame and guard blades (See Abstract). The guard blades can be wing shaped and have a curved face (See Figure 3B) and have a linear central line.

CONCLUSION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 10, 17 and 21-23 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
